March 2009

Hello all Leisure Marchers.

Leisure Marching In New Zealand

It would be great if all your team members could be made aware of this communication as under.

If you are no longer the contact for your team would you kindly pass this on to the correct person. I would appreciate it if you could advise me the details for future contact, or correct any information that is wrong and supply an email address if you have one.

In mid 2005 I created a web site:

<http://www.leisuremarching.org.nz>

If you are already participating in the site with your own page or a link to your own site, then this is just a reminder that the site is still active and welcomes more content from you.

For others this is to introduce the site with the hope that your team too will participate, by either having your own page or sending me information on leisure marching, including details and registration forms for display days that would be helpful to others.

The basic pages are:

Home page: links and general information of interest to marchers.

About the site: explains how you can participate with photos etc

Team Listings: contact details of teams and links to those with pages or their own site (see what some have done).

Calendar: lists dates of display days and links to registration forms where supplied.

I am the husband of a Tawa Leisure Marcher, and I created and maintain the site as a hobby. There is no cost to anyone (except me) – participation is free, so I hope you will contribute. Just send information, photos etc to me and I will do the rest.

Sincerely

Robin Radford

Ps. Some 2009 National Display Day & Function photos are on the web site.
